West Coast Men Refuse To Return to Their Jobs; 2-Year Coal Pact Agreed

San Francisco Yards Hold $500,000,000 in Defense Orders; Olson Appeals

Agreement Made

Hudson Strike Reported Near Settlement With Concessions

(By The Associated Press)

Striking C. I. O. and A. F. L. machinists declined today to return to their jobs at 11 San Francisco shipyards, despite a personal appeal from California's Governor Culbert L. Olson that they aside their grievances in the interests of patriotism.

The yards, where the strike has been in progress 12 days, hold $500,000,000 worth of defense orders.

John Frey, head of the metal trades department of the A. F. L., declared that regardless of the machinists' position, he and other A. F. L. leaders would lead 15,000 shipbuilders back to work today — "and God help the man who tries to stop me."

Governor Olson appealed to the strikers at a meeting last night, but they rejected his resume-work proposal by a vote announced by union officials as 1,702 to 355.

The machinists struck for wages of $1.15 an hour and retention of double pay for overtime. Old wages were $1 an hour, while the companies agreed to a new contract scale of $1.12 straight time, but only time and one half for overtime.

Declines to Agree

The Bethlehem Shipbuilding Yard declined yesterday to agree to a closed shop, and the machinists said they would not return to work until Bethlehem signed a contract.

At Lorain, Ohio, another shipyard strike came to an end when machinists were given wage increases by the American Ship Building Company. Raises of 4 cents an hour went to men previously paid 79 cents, while 5 cent raises were approved for those receiving 80 cents an hour or more. The concern has been building six submarine net tenders for the navy.

Federal Conciliator James F. Deway announced at Detroit that an agreement to end a strike of the United Automobile Workers (C. I. O.) Union against Hudson Motor Company had been reached and would be submitted to the union late today. He said no details would be revealed until ratification. Company spokesmen said the plant would be ready to resume production tomorrow morning if the union agreed. The strike involved 8,500 workmen. The union demanded a 15-cent hourly wage increase in undisclosed present scales and the company offered a three-cent boost. The firm has orders for $10,000,000 worth of airplane parts.

From San Francisco came word that a settlement seemed near in a cannery strike which asparagus growers said had already cost them $1,000,000 in losses.

A month-long dispute between longshoremen and Great Lakes shipping firms was ended by an agreement to give Buffalo, N. Y., waterfront workers wage increases amounting to $300,000 a year. Longshoremen and boatmen will receive 87 1/2 cents an hour, warehousemen 77 1/2 cents—an increase of 7 1/2 cents.

Operators Agree

Continuing negotiations for adjustment of a wage dispute in the nation's soft coal fields, northern operators agreed with the C. I. O. United Mine Workers on a new two-year contract calling for a basic wage of $7 a day. This represents a boost of $1 a day in the northern area, but southern operators have not yet agreed to the increase, which would amount to $1.40 in their mines. Planes Are Given

Americans Have Supplied 20 Aircraft of Transport Type to Britain

Washington, May 21 (AP)—American plane owners — commercial airlines and private citizens — so far have provided 20 transport-type aircraft to aid Great Britain, it was disclosed today.

The 20 planes, one official said, filled the "immediate order," but he added that discussions were being held with other owners concerning availability of additional craft.

President Roosevelt on April 29 directed Secretary of Commerce Jones to determine how many transport planes could be purchased for delivery to Great Britain.

Land Requests Secrecy on Ships Aiding Democracy

Areas About Which Stories are Tabu Include Red Sea, China and Feeder Services

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Chairman Emory S. Land of the Maritime Commission has asked for the withholding of news concerning the movement of United States merchant vessels "which are aiding the democracies."

In a letter to editors of newspapers, magazines and press services and radio executives, Land asked that no publicity be given to the following subjects unless announced or authorized by the Maritime Commission:

Actual or intended movements of any vessels used to aid Britain or other countries the United States is helping. This will particularly apply at this time to sailing to the Red Sea and China (including Rangoon) and feeder services.

Names or lines or characteristics of vessels being so used.

Arrivals or departures of such vessels.

Cargoes of such vessels.

Land said the commission would issue information of public interest "to the extent possible consistent with safeguarding ship movement."

To Dedicate Camp

Syracuse, May 21 (AP)—Endorsing a nationwide movement to provide establishment of camps for children and youth under auspices of local boards of education, Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt will dedicate a new camp of this type June 6 at Catskill. Announcement by Mrs. Roosevelt's participation in the dedication ceremony was made today by Dr. H. Harrison Clarke of Syracuse University, secretary of the New York State Association for Health, Physical Education and Recreation, after receiving a special report of the Association Statewide Committee on School Camps.

No Major Relations

London, May 21 (AP)—Closing of Britain's consular offices in Lebanon and Syria has left Britain and France, former allies, without any major consular relations. Britain's consul general in Lebanon, G. T. Havard, was asked by the French to leave two days ago, after British bombers attacked Nazi-occupied airbases in the Levant States, and the Vichy government requested all other British consuls and consular officials to leave Lebanon and Syria by the end of this week.

Auto, Train Collide

Mullins, S. C., May 21 (AP)—An automobile and a freight train collided at a grade crossing here and as would be expected the automobile was demolished—but the driver escaped injury. Ten of the freight cars were wrecked. Damage to the railroad was placed at more than $50,000.

Germans Pleased At Cretian Campaign

Berlin, May 21 (AP)—Authorized Germans declared today their parachute troops had attacked the island of Crete after intensive dive-bombing preparations, and expressed satisfaction with the progress of their "over water" onslaught.

They denied charges by Prime Minister Churchill yesterday that their parachutists landed in New Zealand uniforms and said there would be no point in this since preliminary bombing did away with the element of surprise to the attack.

Belief was expressed by these sources that King George II of Greece, whose government has been shifted to Crete, already had left the island.

"If he hasn't gone," a spokesman said, "you can be sure he's ready to jump."

Congressmen Laud Cut in Requested Money for W. P. A.

Opposition Develops Upon Bid for Changes in Law and Is Based on 'Career' Angle

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Members of Congress today generally applauded President Roosevelt's sharply reduced request for W. P. A. funds, but some opposition developed to his requests for administrative changes in the law.

The opposition was based on the contention that the legislative changes he asked might induce some work relief clients to make the W. P. A. their "career."

In a special message yesterday, Mr. Roosevelt asked Congress for a W. P. A. appropriation of $886,000,000 for the year beginning next July 1—a reduction of $109,000,000 from preliminary estimates, and comparing with the $1,350,650,000 appropriated for the current fiscal year.

Asserting that the defense program had taken up some of the slack in employment, the President's estimate allowed for employment of about 1,000,000 persons a month on the W. P. R. rolls, the lowest in years.

Rep. Taber of New York, ranking Republican on the appropriations group, said he would fight the whole program.

"The W. P. A. is part of an anti-defense program of the President," Taber said. "One group is getting stuff out for defense. Another is trying to waste the money of the country. He is catering to both. The result is they work both ends against the middle."

Taber disagreed with the President and cannot that a hardship to many people resulted from the present provision requiring the W. P. A. to remove persons who have been continuously on the rolls for 18 months. He called such removals "justice."

The President asked that the requirement be removed. He also recommended elimination of an existing employment restriction against aliens otherwise eligible.

'Concluded Successfully'

Hongkong, May 21 (AP)—The Japanese army command in South China declared today its operations in the Waichow area of Kwangtung province had been "concluded successfully" after large Chinese forces were trapped and wiped out in a 10-day campaign. The Japanese army in the sector was reported being withdrawn.

Philadelphia, May 21 (AP)—Franklin Institute today awarded nine medals for outstanding work in the field of science. Its highest award went to Major Edwin Howard Armstrong of New York city, inventor in the field of radio communications whose crowning achievement is frequency modulation.

Lindbergh Address Banned

Philadelphia, May 21 (AP)—The Philadelphia Academy of Music has banned an address there by Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh in behalf of the American First Committee, President John Frederick Lewis declaring: "The audiences Lindbergh attracts are Communists and Nazis and enemies of our American form of government." Chairman Isaac A. Penny, head of the committee's Philadelphia branch, announced Lindbergh would make his address anyway — at the Philadelphia Arena May 29.

Thousands of Germans Swarm Down on Crete, Gain Foothold; U.S. Asks Vichy to Declare Stand

Vichy Is Told Relations With U. S. Can't Improve Unless France Holds to Armistice

Ships Sail

Two French Vessels Put to Sea From Colonial Possession

Washington, May 21 (AP)—The United States, it was learned authoritatively today, has made the equivalent of a diplomatic call on the Vichy government for a forthright declaration of France's future intentions in "collaborating" with Germany.

Vichy has been given to understand, it was said, that it cannot hope to restore Franco-American relations to harmony unless it is first prepared to supply full assurances in writing that France will hold rigidly to the terms of the June 1940 armistice in all subsequent dealings with the Third Reich.

Secretary Hull's sternly-worded explanation of U. S. views to French Ambassador Henry-Haye contained the diplomatic cue, informed sources asserted, that a formal note, putting France on record, was the only solution. The uncertainty over French intentions meanwhile increased overnight with the news from Martinique that the French cruiser Emile Bertin and the aircraft carrier Bearn had been out to sea for what the commanding admiral called "routine exercises." The officer was quoted as saying that no real preparations for the ships' departure were being made.

As far as is known here, this was the first time the vessels have ventured out of port since they berthed at the French colony in the Caribbean when France fell last year.

Informed sources were slow to accept the Martineque explanation that the purpose, in part, was to keep up the morale of the crews.

One theory advanced was that the "exercises" constituted a veiled warning to the United States that the warships were ready to resist any attempt to stuff the island's hemisphere protectorate. Should the course of Franco-German "collaboration" so warrant.

Another conjecture was that the ships were making ready for a dash through the British blockade for some French base in Europe or North Africa.

Faith Is Lost

In the broader field of Franco-American relations, the United States was understood to have lost faith completely in verbal pledges transmitted to the state department by the French envoy.

The reported reason was that the pledges have not prevented the Vichy government's pro-Hitler elements (as Secretary Hull is understood to call them) from forcing obedience to Nazi demands for increased cooperation.

Permitting Nazi warplanes to use airfields in French-mandated Syria for operations against the British in Iraq was cited as a specific example of Vichy's acquiescence to demands beyond the requirements of the armistice.

Henry-Haye set the diplomatic pot boiling yesterday when he conferred for an hour with Secretary Hull, seeking to find out why Franco-German "collaboration" had caused an "explosion of emotion" here and inspired President Roosevelt to warn the French against allying themselves "with a military power" bent on "the utter destruction of freedom."

No official statement on the conference was issued, but from (Continued on Page Eight)

Those Above Draft Age Might Be Given Chance to Register

Millions of Women Also Might Be Given Opportunity to Enroll for Emergency Work; 10 Million Men Are Listed

Washington, May 21 (AP)—A plan for the voluntary registration of the millions of men above the present military age was reported under consideration today as Mayor Fiorello LaGuardia came here to direct the vast new civilian defense program.

Counting in more than 2,000,000 World War veterans, authorities said there were approximately 10,000,000 men in the age group 36 through 45. (The age limits for military service registrants are 21 through 35).

Furthermore, they pointed out, there were 27,000,000 women between ages of 21 and 46 from whom additional millions of volunteers could be drawn, if the registration were extended to cover them.

A final decision on adoption of the voluntary registration plan, it was said, will rest with LaGuardia to whom the President has delegated full authority for supervising the organization of civilian defenses. Such defenses include home guards, already formed in some states, air-raid warning and air-raid defense services, and the numerous services connected with recreational and social projects for men in the army.

In announcing his selection of New York's mayor for the new post, Mr. Roosevelt indicated that civil defense services might utilize men of military age who are in deferred classifications. He said that he had asked selective service headquarters for the names of those who could volunteer for civil defense duties.

Of the 16,500,000 selective service registrants, about 6,000,000 have been classified to date and only 600,000 of these men will be in training by the end of June. Thus a reservoir of at least 5,000,000 would be available here, and the number would be more than doubled when the remaining 10,000,000 registrants are classified.

However, some authorities are known to view this huge pool of registrants as the nation's principal manpower supply, not only for military service, if deferments should be restricted, but also for defense industries and agriculture.

It was noted that LaGuardia was assigned among his other duties the job of looking after civilian morale, and it was expected that while his long-range objective would be to prepare against such possible dangers as airplane attacks, his immediate goal would be the stimulation of morale by making the defense drive a matter of personal concern to the millions who heretofore have had nothing personally to do with it.

German Landings In Crete Are Not Mere Experiment

Landing of 3,000 Troops Gives Indication of Continuing Operation Growing in Weight

By DEWITT MACKENZIE (Freeman Special News Service)

The landing of 3,000 more German parachute troops on the mountainous Isle of Crete last night, accompanied by an effort to put Nazi naval forces ashore, labels the invasion of this strategic allied base as no mere experimental affair but as a continuing operation which is growing in weight.

It's unlike the Germans to start anything they don't intend to finish, and their strategy as thus far disclosed indicates an original intention of pursuing the assaults progressively and with increasing intensity until a foothold is secured.

This is a variation of the well-known tactics long favored by the Germans when it is necessary to make frontal attacks with infantry. The idea is to jam a way through to the objective by sheer weight of numbers, thrown against the enemy in waves and mass formation, without regard to loss of life among the assaulting forces.

The Anglo-Greek defense claims to have killed or captured the initial contingent of glider and parachute troops at the opening of the battle of Crete yesterday, and to have control of the situation developing from the second landing.

The moral of this story of landing infantry from the air seems to me to lie in the demonstration that such an operation is feasible even in the face of a strong and prepared defense. Troops have been landed before in this war—in Poland and Norway, for example—but this is the first instance in which they have dropped into an enemy camp which was expecting just such an attack and was set for action. This is the first time, that gliders have been used to transport soldiers in actual warfare.

Could Cause Trouble

When we consider these facts there must pass through your mind, as there does through mine, the thought that if Hitler tries his invasion of England he is bound to get troops into the country—and probably a considerable number—by aerial means. That he could land enough to make the invasion a success seems highly doubtful, in view of the British preparedness, but he certainly could cause a lot of trouble.

One satisfaction the British may get out of the present situation is that any equipment which Hitler loses over Crete will be just so much gravy for the army which is guarding Mother England from invasion. From the German viewpoint, even if they fail in taking (Continued on Page 12)

British Say Struggle for Island Is Now Fiercer; Situation Is Reported in Hand

250 Gliders Used

'Men From Mars' Carry Equipment in Raid From Mainland

(By The Associated Press)

Thousands of German aerial invaders swarmed down anew on the 160-mile-long Isle of Crete today and a London radio broadcast indicated that Nazi parachute and glider troops had gained at least a temporary foothold on part of the island.

The British acknowledged that the battle for the strategic Greek island was growing fiercer.

A new host of 3,000 German sky troops were reported to have descended on the island during the night after the entire first day's contingent of 1,500 was declared to have been captured or killed.

London dispatches said the Germans were still pouring in.

A British radio broadcast said "one or two" German naval transports may also have gotten through, but the announcer asserted that "there is no lack of control of very large areas of the island, although parachute troops may be fighting in groups at various points."

The announcer said there was reason to believe that large numbers of Germans were captured alive.

"The situation is well in hand," the British said tersely.

Authoritative quarters in London said a full German parachute division of 7,000 men was involved in the 2-day-old assault—including two infantry regiments, an artillery regiment armed with 75-millimeter guns, an anti-tank battalion with 37 mm. guns, a motorcycle reconnaissance group and other units.

Striking from Greek mainland bases, 75 to 100 miles away, Hitler's "Men from Mars" were said to be using a fleet of 250 huge Focke-Wulf air transports carrying 75 to 75 men each, and an undisclosed number of gliders.

Defending the island, the government seat of King George II and a British naval stronghold, were said to be two full Greek divisions and large numbers of British imperial troops under orders to fight "to the death with no thought of retreat."

Cut Loose at Heights

British reports said the Nazi gliders were cut loose from towing planes at a great height, many miles away from their objectives, and coasted in without the tell-tale drone of motors.

Some troop-carrying planes were reported shot down.

In Berlin, authorized quarters angrily denied Prime Minister Churchill's assertion that 1,500 Nazi "chutists" disguised in New Zealand battle-dressed engaged in the initial assault.

The Germans said Churchill's remark was "infamous," and threatened that any brutal or illegal treatment of Nazi "chutists" would bring stern reprisals.

The London radio broadcast a warning that "whoever, in violation of international law, fights in an enemy uniform, must expect to be shot at once when taken prisoner."

A Berlin spokesman expressed satisfaction with the progress of the attack—possibly a rehearsal for Hitler's long-heralded attempt to invade England—and asserted that if King George II has not already fled Crete "you can be sure he's ready to jump."

Previously, the king was said to have rejected pleas by his (Continued on Page Eight)

Approval Asked

Bill to Permit Government Construction of Oil Pipe Lines Is Suggested

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Heeding an urgent appeal from President Roosevelt, House leaders sought today to expedite approval of legislation to permit government to construct oil pipe lines in the interest of national defense.

Rep. Cole (D. Md.) predicted the House interstate commerce committee would send to the House in a few days enabling legislation which the President said yesterday was of "first rank in importance."

Mr. Roosevelt sent Speaker Rayburn a letter yesterday saying that unless new pipe lines were constructed, it might be necessary to restrict uses of oil along the Atlantic coast because the sea-going tanker supply was inadequate.

Helper on Truck Suffers Injured Leg in Accident

Shortly after 4 o'clock this morning Policeman Carlton Taylor called police headquarters and asked that one of the radio cars be sent to Hasbrouck avenue and Ferry street. He reported that a helper on a truck was suffering from an injured leg.

The helper was Arthur Vittel of Baisley, L. I., who had suffered the leg injury from a broken glass in a buffet he had aided in loading into the truck at Saugerties. The wound had been dressed by a physician in Saugerties at the time.

After having the wound dressed the truck was being driven back to Long Island and in coming down the Broadway hill instead of turning into McEntee street had proceeded on down the hill.

In making the turn into Abeel street the gears on the truck had been stripped.

The injured man was removed to the Kingston Hospital in the radio car.

Strikes, Lockouts Banned

N. Y. A. Official Tells of Chances For Young People

Robert Reeves, youth personnel supervisor for Area 5 of the N. Y. A. of New York state, addressed the senior class students at the Kingston High School yesterday. Mr. Reeves advised the young people of the opportunities for work experience available for them after they have graduated from school.

There are openings for workers in many different types of work at present due to the rapid turnover of youth leaving N. Y. A. resident centers to take private employment. N. Y. A. resident centers offer an unusual opportunity for inexperienced young people to secure much needed work experience while earning their living, he said.

Opportunities are in radio, welding, sheet-metal, aviation, agriculture, herd testing, machinist, electric fixtures, cabinet making and construction.

Seventy-five per cent of Ulster county boys taking advantage of the resident centers are now placed in industry.

Information on the resident center program of the N. Y. A. can be obtained from the local office at 97 Broadway, Kingston.

KINGSTON, NEW YORK, MAY 21, 1941.

BUILD IN KINGSTON

Kingston is now enjoying a boom in the building of new homes according to the records of Plumbing Inspector Charles H. Gregory, which show that last year approximately fifty new houses were erected in the city, and so far this year there are 35 new homes under construction.

Building within the city limits affords many advantages to a home owner that cannot be obtained elsewhere. The plumbing inspector points out seven reasons why anyone contemplating erecting a home for his family should play safe and build within the city.

The reasons in brief are:

That the home builder is assured of a water system second to none in the state;

A complete and modern sewer system for the proper disposal of sewage;

Milk, food and water departments regularly checked by city inspectors;

A health department which investigates every report of a contagious disease within the city;

House plumbing checked upon installation to guarantee that the water will be protected from contamination, and that sewer gas will not pollute the house;

These city services maintained continuously against interruption;

Gas for hot water and cooking, and electricity for illumination and for use in cooking if desired.

Speaking of the use of septic tanks as a method of solving the problem of sewage disposal the plumbing inspector asserts that "extravagant statements are made regarding the purifying power of a septic tank, but it should be borne in mind that sewage after having passed through a septic tank is only partially treated sewage and should be dealt with as such."

In building a house within the city limits the plumbing inspector said that the home owner is assured of obtaining the essential sanitary service which the city has to offer.

It is only by building within the city limits that the home owner is assured of having and enjoying all the facilities that a city has to offer its inhabitants.

RELATIVE SACRIFICES

Shopping is going to be simpler by autumn. Or it may be more difficult. It's all in the point of view.

The person who wants unusual things, odd models, imported stuff, is going to have a harder time finding them. But the shopper who doesn't want to spend too much time looking around will find things easier because there will be fewer materials and products from which to choose.

This tendency appears already in household equipment, clothing and automobiles. It is caused by the war's restrictions of imports and the effect of increasing defense effort on production.

Americans need not pat themselves on the back too proudly for such sacrifices. They are very small deprivations compared with those others suffer and with what this nation may yet experience. They are also small in comparison with what we hope to gain by enduring them for a while. Prime Minister Menzies of Australia expresses his countrymen's philosophy about this as follows:

"What matter if, when this war is over, we 'scratch gravel,' provided it is our own gravel? What matter if we find ourselves poor, provided our poverty is of that honest kind the sharing of which invokes the true and equal dignity of man? Better that those of us who still have the pioneer spirit come out of it bankrupt than as servants of a system for which humanity should find no room."

The Australians have decided that freedom is worth sacrificing for on a big scale.

"WHAM" GIRLS

The lads who publish the Harvard Lampoon seem to keep their sense of humor on straight a good deal of the time. Last year they obeyed the pleasant impulse to name Hollywood's special "oomph" girl as the "worst actress in 1940."

The other evening, at their annual Lampoon dance, they presented the honorary degree of "master of hearts" to another Hollywood actress who attended the dance "in person." She seems to have won all this distinction by her "wham," which may be merely this season's translation of "oomph" or, on the other hand, something different.

In any case, it all seems to be a bit of merry spoofing of the glamor idea, somewhat like that of the group of artists in New York who give debutante balls for Cinderella girls definitely outside of the social register. The only trouble with these satiric performances is that they are often over the heads of the people they lampoon.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

REMOVING LOOSE KNEE CARTILAGE

One of the injuries football, basketball, baseball players and other athletes sustain is a loose cartilage in the knee. This cartilage serves as a cushion between the two bones forming the knee joint and as the knee joint supports the whole weight of the body, anything that disturbs that cushion means not only a painful knee but a knee that will not support the weight of the body. The athlete is temporarily unable to play. At times this cushion or cartilage gets torn and so gets "misplaced" in the joint.

My own treatment in "fresh" injuries was to strap the knee up with adhesive tape, replacing the tape every few days for two or three weeks. In more severe cases, the knee was placed in a plaster cast for three to five weeks.

The question naturally asked is why did not these loose cartilage cases undergo operation? To be quite frank, it was not until recent years that the physician or surgeon has felt free to recommend operation because so many operations resulted in a "stiff" knee; in fact, very little motion remained after operation.

These knee injuries are just as common today as ever, but if adhesive or plaster cast treatment fails to give results, most physicians feel free to recommend operation owing to the satisfactory results which are now obtained. These satisfactory results have been obtained because the patient now receives a thorough examination and any infection—teeth, tonsils, sinuses—is removed before operation. In addition, the operation itself has been changed somewhat.

In recording his results in operation of fifty of these cases, Dr. Harold R. Bohman, Johns Hopkins University in the Journal of the American Medical Association, outlines his method of preparation, recommends the use of a local instead of a general anesthetic, the complete removal of blood from the joint, and injection of air, with gentle movement of the joint within a few days after operation.

The hospital stay is from three to seven days instead of the two or three weeks of former years.

I am passing this information on because "loose cartilage" occurs so often, not only among athletes but in various occupations. To know that they can safely undergo operation and be free from this disabling condition should be good news to patients with a loose cartilage.

Red Cross Anniversary

On a mild spring evening 60 years ago, a small group of dead-in-earnest men and women met at Clara Barton's home in Washington and founded the American Red Cross. The 60th anniversary of this memorable occasion will be observed May 21 by Red Cross Chapters throughout the country.

In the three-score years since 1881 many things have come to pass. Disasters have taken their toll, wars wrought destruction, famine and epidemic come and gone. And in all these catastrophes the American Red Cross has played its part—clothing, feeding, sheltering the homeless and ministering to those who were ill.

Members of the group that met at Miss Barton's unpretentious residence on that historic occasion could not possibly have known to what extent their pioneer efforts were to benefit humanity. In 1905 the fast-growing society was reorganized under a new Congressional charter to enable its leaders and membership to carry forward more effectively its humanitarian tasks.

From 1914 to 1918 the American Red Cross proved the practical worth of Dunant's idealism; and today, under the leadership of its chairman, Norman H. Davis, the organization is moving swiftly on countless fronts to relieve suffering abroad and strengthen defenses at home. Again the die is cast and again we man the front-lines of mercy, mustering a multimillion dollar program to bring severely needed relief to many nations, many peoples.

The great things that have been accomplished in these crowded 60 years have been made possible not only by the driving power of those in the vanguard of Red Cross activity, but by the united efforts of the American people who, upon all occasions, have come to the support of their Red Cross—finding both time and strength to provide funds and materials with which to work.

In terms of history 60 years is a short period. But it has been sufficient to test the Red Cross time and again in the crucible of emergency. Upon each occasion the organization has emerged stronger in ability and stronger in purpose and ideals.

Today the American heart expresses itself through the American Red Cross which is the common, willing effort of the people in the ministry of mercy. Our faith in many things may waver or fail, but never when it concerns the Red Cross. In the efficiency of its functioning it is surpassed by no other organization. Its officers and workers are largely volunteers, motivated by the highest of human principles.

★AMERICANA★ COUNTRY SCHOOL

By RAY PEACOCK
AP Feature Service Writer

You just go right and tell your Pa that he can keep still about the way he walked four miles through snow up to his knees to get to school in the morning. Yessirree, Bub, you go right and tell him that kids still do that, and that the snow still is just as cold and just as deep.

Your Pa lives in town now and he's forgotten that the little white school house still sits on the corner of the section line, and that kids carry their lunch buckets to school the same like they always did.

And there's still a schoolmarm fresh out of teachers' college, glad to get her ninety a month. And she still says "Fifth grade, rise and pass," and when the fifth graders get through reciting she still says

"Sixth grade, rise and pass," same like your Pa's teacher did.

Maybe up in front there's an old organ or piano that some bright girl can play like she is made high with a dictionary, because there still has to be music for the exercises like those coming up pretty quick now with school letting out. And the kids still get up in front and sing—the way they always did.

Yessirree, Bub, you tell your Pa that maybe all the schoolmarm knows about psychology and behaviorism and neurosis is just what she can cure with the business end of a yardstick. But you tell him too that the fancy trimmings are for the consolidated schools and ask him what a district is going to do if it can't pay that kind of taxes.

You go tell your Pa that, Bub. And while you're at it, tell your Pa that they still got the same old signals.

Washington Daybook

By Jack Stinnett

Washington—The capital of the conf.

In a way, this is a laugh on the G-men. But also it is a variation of an old story about fellows who put gasoline in the fire extinguishers.

The Federal Bureau of Investigation is doing a good deal more than you know about. It is checking everything under the sun. It checks defense plants to see what goes on, if anything, in the way of sabotage. The other day, FBI men were investigating a pier and wharf area (I can't tell where) and came on 97 water barrels, filled to the brim. Over each group of them was this sign: "For use in case of fire."

The pay-off was that five gallons of fuel oil floated on top of each barrel. The conclusion was staggering. The FBI settled down for an all-out investigation.

But instead of saboteurs, the FBI found health officials. These men, it was definitely proved, had come into the case on a hurry-up call—and their orders were to eliminate all mosquitoes in the neighborhood. The first thing was to spread oil—and lots of it—over the open fresh water barrels. It murdered the mosquitoes. It wasn't until the FBI knocked on their doors that the health men realized they had made a flaming torch out of every fire-prevention water keg in the vicinity.

Laugh-Proofing Law

Sometimes American laws make American laughs. One that Washington is chuckling over is the interstate communications statute which makes it prohibitive for any interstate telegraph system to establish a "private wire."

Postal Telegraph recently has been granted permission to put a special leased circuit from Joliet, Ill., to the United States army ordnance depot near Elwood, Ill.

Knudsen, The Wizard

When recent figures were issued about next year's allotments for new automobiles, they came out this way: "This year, 5,289,972 cars; next year, 4,224,152 cars; reduction, 1,065,820 cars."

It didn't take someone very long to discover that these figures didn't add...But OPM already had shut up shop for the day. When the error was relayed to homes, junior officials swarmed out like flies. Knudsen's own private secretary even joined the chase for missing figures. Were next year's quotas wrong by several thousands or were the reduction figures wrong?

About midnight (after five hours of combing work-sheets with plant quotas in OPM files) everybody gave up. Knudsen was attending a private party at the Mayflower. He walked out to find a bevy of his junior executives. They explained their dilemma. Knudsen adjusted his glasses, glanced briefly over the figures, mazed work-sheets and said: "Somebody made an error on the adding machines. The correct figures are, 1941 production, 5,289,972; proposed allotments, 4,224,152—reduction, 1,065,820 cars."

It's that kind of thing that makes Washington folk so positive that "Bill" Knudsen knows all the answers.

"AT CENTURY'S TURN"

By H. L. VAN DEUSEN

Kingston's hope of becoming a second Detroit in the auto manufacturing world was blasted on June 4, 1917, when it was announced that John B. Johnston of New York city, had been appointed receiver of the Emerson Motors and would take possession of the auto plant on Grand street.

The concern had planned to manufacture an automobile that would sell at $395, but as far as I recall none of the cars ever reached the market.

It is also interesting to recall that the second annual commencement at the Kingston High School was held in the school auditorium on the evening of June 28, of that year. The school that year graduated 80 pupils. Seated on the auditorium stage that evening were the following members of the education board: President Walter N. Gill, Harry H. Flemmer, Joseph M. Schaeffer, DuBois G. Atkins and Ernest W. Kearney, Superintendent of Schools Myron J. Michael and Principal Charles K. Moulton were also seated on the stage.

The eight students who delivered the address of the evening were Charles R. McNamee, Helen R. Dangremont, Douglas E. Brown, Helen F. Pennington, Charles Carle, Alice H. Scott, Arthur H. Warren and Alberta Silkworth.

The farce comedy, "Our Regiment," was presented from the stage of the old Kingston Opera House on the evening of June 11, 1917, under the auspices of the United Commercial Travelers for the benefit of the local Red Cross.

Those in the cast that night included John Finn, Miss Hilda Kolts, Miss Blanche Montanye, William Newkirk, James W. Scott, Miss Tessie Heaney, Edward S. Morris, Miss Kathryn Humphrey and Joseph Hittorf.

Under the selective conscription plan in 1917, Judge Hasbrouck of the Ulster County Defense Council of Ulster county on June 4, recommended to Adjutant General Slossberg that Captain Benjamin J. Hornbeck and Samuel Stern be named as the exemption board in Kingston district.

That year Ulster county was divided into three districts. For the second district the names of Charles C. Hardenburgh of Stone Ridge, and Cornelius Dumond of Lake Katrine, were recommended by Judge Hasbrouck, and in the third district the names of Dillon B. Humphrey of Napanoch and John Lyons of Gardiner.

On Tuesday, June 5, was held the registration of all males between the ages of 21 and 30, both included in Ulster county which resulted in a total registration of 6,324 men. Of that number 538 were aliens, 120 were negroes and 31 were alien enemies.

Spectacle of Bureaucratic Spending Is Best Way to Foster National Disunity and President Passes Responsibility (By DAVID LAWRENCE)

Washington, May 21—Americans may well ask themselves again and again these days what kind of democracy they are asked to defend. The spectacle of a President and a congress spending money right and left for fat jobs for bureaucrats engaged in non-defense work is a tragic example of how not to produce national unity.

Mr. Roosevelt nonchalantly passes the buck to congress when economy is mentioned yet when the Senate this very week dealt with an item far above the President's own budget estimates, not a finger was lifted by the administration to prevent the extravagance.

The public, moreover, is entitled to know the tactics of misrepresentation by which normal expenses are being increased under the guise of some vague or remote relationship to the defense program. The Senate appropriations committee for instance, cut $750,000 from the big appropriation which had been made for the anti-trust division of the Department of Justice. Senator McCarran of Nevada, Democrat, said that even with the cut the amount to be given to the anti-trust division was $250,000 higher than last year. But the Senate voted 35 to 21 to restore the whole sum.

Now anti-trust activities are desirable in normal times, but when the attorney general announces certain devices by means of industry committees to avoid anti-trust prosecutions in order quickly to line up the production of industry, virtually conceding that there must be combinations of producers in order to allocate war orders and hold down prices, there would seem to be less reason for making the anti-trust division bigger than ever before.

The anti-trust division already has the largest staff of lawyers ever assembled in a government agency and unless these lawyers who get high salaries think up ways and means of harassing business and industry, they probably feel they are not justifying the big appropriations they are receiving from congress.

When the Senate on Monday was about to support the committee's $750,000 from the funds of the anti-trust division, a great hue and cry was raised. Needing information from the anti-trust division itself, several senators went to bat for the bureaucrats. The reasons they gave were amazingly naive. Knowing that to get money, the request has to be tied into the defense situation somehow, the old familiar charge about the Aluminum Company of America and its alleged failure to provide enough aluminum for airplanes was brought up again. The anti-trust division must have money, it was argued, to prevent these "shortages," supposedly created by monopolies and, as usual, a lot of unsupported and unverified charges were introduced into the debate and the Senate promptly authorized the inflationary rise of prices and labor costs.

Now the real reason why there is an aluminum problem today is something which, it so happens, the congress of the United States does not dare to investigate. For the finger of blame would come right back to President Roosevelt and congress itself.

There is plenty of aluminum today for military and naval needs; in fact, a substantial surplus is figured in terms of any requirements offered by the war and navy departments up to and as late as January, 1941. There is certainly more than enough aluminum as figured in terms of the requirements as of March, 1940. For in that latter month when the air corps of the United States army asked for 1,000 combat planes, the House of Representatives cut the request to 57 and the Senate fixed it at 166. In September of the same year, the same congress voted for 18,000 combat planes.

If the Congress of the United States, six months after the second World War began, estimated America's aluminum requirements in terms of 166 combat planes for the United States army, is the Aluminum Company of America now to be blamed for not having rushed in to build big plants so as to offset Germany's production? Did the principal customer of the aluminum company today—Noble Sam—place any substantial orders prior to a year ago? And the record shows the aluminum company responded then with a big increase of capacity and a risk of $200,000,000 of its own funds. And the war and navy departments will testify to the patriotic cooperation they have thus received.

Yet senators stand up in the capitol and blame the aluminum company. It's the favorite stunt in democracies—always to blame the other fellow. But someday there will be an inquiry and it will be conducted by a fearless committee elected on behalf of an indignant American people who will demand to know who in 1940 and 1941 interfered with defense by camouflaging the failures of politicians and bureaucrats.

There is no need for more anti-trust funds today—none except the desire of bureaucracy to harass the industrial executives of America at a time when they should be permitted to concentrate on defense production. The $750,000 item is in a bill now in conference between the Senate and House. Will congress continue to ask draftees to accept $21 a month whilst the jobholders in Washington multiply and the President who asks "sacrifices" continues to forget that bureaucrats are supposed to make sacrifices too?

On the home front in America are the same signs of moral decay which underlie the fascist republic. The politicians deliberately mislead the people, neglect real defense and waste public funds. Instead of an attitude of spiritual sacrifice and cooperation, Washington presents a spectacle of selfishness, and the example is being taken up by groups outside of Washington as evidenced in the inflationary rise of prices and labor costs.

No One Now Will Know
By E. M. Delafield

There may be more danger than benefit in being a superlatively competent technician—at least it is difficult to see where E. M. Delafield's undoubted competence has got her in the case of her new novel. This she calls "No One Now Will Know," and the book is like nothing so much as one of those backward walking crabs.

It begins in 1939 with the great grandchild of the people with whom the book through the years is at Nice, discussing the fact that one has a great-uncle, the other two a grandfather buried there, and that his name was Lucy, which was short for Lucien. It ends with the scandal which has been the family skeleton through many years, although the author remains purposely delicate about some facts of that event. In between the reader is gradually marched backward in time to the past, flashback by flashback. These are managed with skill and precision, but just the same they annoy me.

Seems to me that it would have been much simpler to have started with Cecilia, who went to Barbados after the War Between the States, married a planter, survived him with three children, and inherited his estate. It would have been even better than that with Cecilia's unnatural maternal preferences. She ignored her only daughter Fanny, tolerated her son Lucy, adored her son Fred. Naturally, Fred was the no-good one.

Then Lucy's marriage to lovely, too-loving Rosalie, and the tangled marriage created with the years and so on down to the present. The subject of the novel is the family, the train approached Nice and the world approached an all-out war. Part of the author's purpose is to show how, through the generations, certain characteristics have repeated themselves in the Lempriere-Charlecombe descendants, and therefore this scene is essential.

A good deal of the writing in "No One Now Will Know" is first rate, and there are some sharply outlined characters and some quite exciting incidents. But if I, with daily practice in disorienting myself, was confused, I suspect the general reader will be at least equally so.

During the last 33 years, the total lumber cut in the U. S. amounted to more than a trillion (1,000 billion) board feet, according to the Census.

How It Was Done
Should you ask me whence these lashes,
Whence these always ruby lips,
Whence these pale hands, supple,
soft hands,
And this form divine, sans hips,
I would answer, I would tell you
"This from tubes and sticks and lotions."
Tis from sixteen days of diet
Plus gymnastic locomotions.

A witness in a suit concerning the number of cubic yards of some rock that had been removed showed little knowledge of what a cubic yard meant. To help him out,
the judge said:
"Assume this inkstand to be three feet across the top this way and three feet that way and three feet in height. What would you call it?"
Witness—Well, your Honor, I'd say it was a hell of a big inkstand.

Country Things I Love

(Progressive Farmer)

Here is my list of country things
I love most—
When it's "Cherry Blossom
Time," to be with the "Old Folks at Home," drink from "The Old Oaken Bucket," and sit in "An Old Fashioned Garden."

Just to be living "When the Robins Nest Again," fishing "Down
By the Riverside," Hoeing "Down
Dat Tater Row," working "In the Garden," and gathering "Sweet Violets, Sweeter Than all Roses." After rain to "Wait Till the Clouds Roll By," and "Listen to the Mockingbird" in "Trees."

"When the Moon Comes Over the Mountain" to follow the "Trail of the Lonesome Pine" on "Wagon Wheels" out to "My Old Kentucky Home" and enjoy an evening of
"The Barn Dance."

To see "Old Black Joe" and
"Old Uncle Ned" coming up with their milk buckets "When the Cows Come Home."

When it's "Springtime in the Rockies" to drive old Dobbin past
"The Field of Clover."

In Summer to read "The Progressive Farmer" "In the Shade of the Old Apple Tree," or lie down and dream "By A Waterfall."

"When It's Cotton Pickin' Time in Georgia" to see my daddy again
"Carve dat 'Possum," drink "Apple Jack and 'Simmon Beer"—and shoo away the "Turkey in the Straw" and the "Chicken in de Bread Tray Peckin' up Dough!"

To return home from the fields of corn and cotton "In the Gloaming."

And finally to be present at
"The Last Round-Up."

When the preacher called for women to stand up and promise to go home and mother their husbands only one little woman arose, and when he told her to go home at once and mother her husband she said, "Mother him? Ah thought you said smother him!"

If there's no such thing as luck, explain why a mud puddle, a fool driver, and your spring pants happen to be there at the same time.

The teacher was examining the class in physiology. "Mary, you tell us," she asked, "what is the function of the stomach?"
"The function of the stomach," the little girl answered, "is to hold up the petticoat!"

Be sure you're right and then go ahead and pay no attention to

Now Is Time to Favor the Apple

Will Improve the Diet of Families. Specialist Asserts

Ithaca, N. Y., May 21 — With the present emphasis on proper foods, don't forget the apple, is the message of Helen Monsch of the New York state college of home economics.

Though an apple a day may not be guaranteed to keep the doctor away, it does improve the diet of all families, and is one of the most valuable fruits in the state, she says.

"Apples are valuable because they are plentiful and available throughout the year; they are adaptable to all three meals of the day, as well as for in-between snacks; they are eaten in large quantities, which add important amounts of minerals and vitamins, especially vitamin C, and particularly when the fruit is eaten raw and unpeeled."

The apple promotes normal intestinal activity since it can hold relatively large amounts of water, and the texture of raw apples provides exercise for the teeth and gums, she says.

"Apples are one of the foods that not only taste good but are good. Their flavor and crunchiness give them a high place in menu-planning. No other fruit lends itself so well to many different uses and in many varied dishes."

Miss Monsch suggests that, besides in the traditional pie, sauce,
and cider, apples be used in salads,
in tapioca, rice and gelatin des-

THE SACRED DAGGER

By Rita Mohler Hanson

YESTERDAY: Anne Willard has been met at a desert station by Pete Mackey, and is being driven to her father's camp. But before Pete arrived, a stranger happened by, and strangely interested Anne. And then two natives brought her a dagger, a token from her father. And now she and Pete just have rescued the white stranger, whose airplane had crashed on the wide plain. His nickname is Blaze.

Chapter Three

Accident

ANNE'S companion took off his helmet. "To rest my ears," he shouted, and wiggled them skillfully. Now, she understood the name Mackey had called him.
A white blaze streaked his dark hair above the left eye. She had heard this is a mark of peculiar inheritance passed on by mother to son or from father to daughter. Gypsies regard such people as being especially blessed.
Presently they passed over a small nomadic encampment of men and horses and Anne recalled the dagger that she wore. She wondered how much this young man knew about it, if anything.
As they sailed over rough country again, the air seemed to take on the nature of the landscape below.

The bottom fell out of the world.

Mackey attempted to rise to escape the bumps. Suddenly, the wing fabric started to loosen and he levelled out.

Her companion tested Anne's safety belt, hastily stuffed the cushions about her on the farther side and lifted his bed roll against the cowl in front of them. They heard Mackey yell as he cut the engine.

A lurch, a drop, and the bottom fell out of the world.

Gregory Sherwood

WHEN Anne regained consciousness, she lay wrapped in a fur robe in the shelter of the unbroken wing of the plane. The young man called Blaze was working over Mackey, washing blood from the side of his head.
Anne felt faint again for a moment, and then rallied and sat up.
Except for the shaking and a bump on her forehead and for a swollen left thumb that was twisted in a peculiar position, there seemed to be nothing wrong with her. The young man came over.

"I've been remembering," she remarked before he could speak.
"That last night you said, 'Au revoir' instead of goodbye. Was it intentional?"

He grinned. "I'd hoped to see you in Chuka. How are you feeling?"

Mutely she held up the injured thumb. He frowned and took her hand in his, examined the member carefully, felt along the bones and with a sudden, unexpected jerk, pulled them into place. Anne gave a little gasp and then laughed.

"You did that like a professional."

"I'm a Jack of all trades," he said, sitting down crosslegged opposite her and added, "an archaeologist has to be. My name is Gregory Sherwood. Her eyes betrayed her, now could she hide the tell-tale color that suffused her face. "I was afraid you had heard about me," he sighed, nibbling on a blade of grass.

"You're the man who has charge of antiquarian research in Shan Lun."

He nodded. "What does your father say about me?"

She spoke stiffly. "Of course he thinks you have no right to interfere in his quest for Shy-a Nago."

"I'm compelled to disagree with that," he replied gently. "You see,
I heard of Shy-a Nago before he did. I was working on a way to propitiate the Nagara tribesmen when your parents stumbled upon them under particularly favorable circumstances. I—"

"You," she interrupted, her serts, and with meats and main dishes. She gives three recipes:

Apple Joy
To make it, grease a shallow pan with butter and sprinkle the bottom generously with graham-cracker crumbs made by putting the crackers through a food chopper. Spread over this a 1/4 inch layer of apple sauce. Sprinkle the top with graham cracker crumbs and dot with butter. Brown it in a hot oven about 450 degrees Fahrenheit and serve it with whipped cream to which sugar and cinnamon have been added to taste.

Indian Apple Pudding
Indian apple pudding is made as follows: Boil 2 cups of milk, and stir in 1/2 cup of corn meal.
Then add 2 cups of sliced apples,
1/2 cup of molasses, and 1/2 teaspoon each of salt and butter.
Mix together all of this, then add 4 cups of milk. Pour the mixture equanimity restored, "are out of luck. The first man who stakes the claim gets the concession."

"The claim is not staked yet,"
he reminded her.

She let her hand rest on the ceremonial dagger hidden under her coat. "I carry the stake."

"I know," he admitted.
She had wondered, "And you can't influence father."

"At least I can talk to him." He took a pipe from his mouth. "May I?" She nodded. Mackey came over and dropped down beside them. "You two know each other before?" he asked curiously.

Anne said, "We've discovered that we are—natural enemies."
"How romantic," he jested.
"There is only one ending to that situation."

"This affair," said Anne drily,
"is going to be different. How does it happen we are still alive?"

The men looked at each other.
"I don't know," said Mackey, "unless it is the Sherwood luck. Twice in one day. Maybe there is luck in having a name so much like that of the old Buddha Sherwood of Shan Lun." He rose to appraise the damage on his plane.

Anne looked up at the desolation about them, the endless ridges of gravelly sand with an occasional clump of camelthorn, the lowering horizon, the threat of snowstorm. This was the eastern fringe of Omar Khayyam's part of the world.

"Snow upon the Desert's dusty Face," she murmured, and added forlornly, "We're not safe yet."

"She's done for," Mackey called to them, giving the fuselage of the ship a slap, and added as he returned, "Oh, well, the old bird would have been grounded years ago in any other country."

Dangerous Land

HOW come you get permission from the Chinese governor to fly to Chuka?" Sherwood demanded.

"I didn't," grinned Mackey. "I thought I'd just come and then fly on to the capital and ask his nibs for a job."

"Then perhaps it's just as well
for you that we did crack up.
They say Chinese prisons are nasty places to die in."

"You were flying to the same place."

"I was on government business with a permit. This stunt of yours is quite different."

Mackey whistled. "Sweet serpents, is that the way you've got the new Chinese governor sized up?"

"That's the way."

"No better than the Emir of Yangsar, eh?"

"Worse."

"If my reckoning's right, we're inside Yangsar territory now."

Anne saw the men exchange troubled glances. She had heard unpleasant things about the independent Emir.

"Wandering nomad tribes may have seen or heard us," Mackey went on. "If they come to investigate, I only hope they listen to reason. White people are not so highly thought of in this part of the world right now."

"You can't scare me or Miss Willard," said Sherwood. "With your brains and her charm and my luck, we're an unbeatable combination."

"Here's hoping. We'd better bivouac for the night under this wing and collect camel thorn to keep a fire going."

They started a fire with oil and material from the broken wing, leaving Anne to watch it. Snow had begun to slant down and his across the land, with unfriendly bitterness.

When Sherwood returned with an armload of fuel and sat down for a few moments she asked, "Do you know Philip Oliver?"

"I've met him," he said.
Anne pulled the fur robe around her shoulders. "Philip Oliver and I are going to be married tomorrow."

"You won't be in Chuka tomorrow," he said.

To be continued

into a buttered baking dish and bake it for three hours at 250 degrees Fahrenheit. When this is cold, a clear amber jelly will be found throughout the pudding.
This may be served with cream.

Soft Custard Applesauce
Soft custard applesauce combines two favorite desserts. This combined dessert is easily made by pouring soft custard over applesauce in a casserole, then add meringue to cover the top, and bake it for fifteen minutes at 325 degrees Fahrenheit.

The 1940 Census shows there the metropolitan areas made up of cities of 50,000 and more and territory adjacent to those cities in which population density was at least 150 per square mile. This was 47.8 per cent of the total population of the nation.

Flashes of Life
Sketched in Brief

(By The Associated Press)
—Contempt of Court—

New York — A duly-qualified Queens county judge and an assistant district attorney are prepared to make solemn affidavits that actually happened.

Anyway, court procedure was interrupted when Judge Charles S. Cullen was distracted by a gnawing sound. It was a small gray mouse, chewing on the sole of a newspaper reporter's shoe. The reporter was so busy he hadn't noticed.

A recess was called, and the mouse was captured by two attendants.

False Alarm

Los Angeles — An excited voice phoned the fire department that the Memorial Coliseum was afire with "flames leaping 100 feet in the air."

Six trucks roared out — and back to their stations.

The fire was atop the peristyle, the flickering flame of the Olympic Torch, lighter for the 1932 Olympiad and relighted for Youth Preparedness Week.

Mail Trouble

Belleville, Ill. — Belleville's only electric traffic signal was designed to direct traffic only and — well, that's all.

But when it went out of order and tied up traffic, workers opened the slotted, green-painted control box and discovered six postal cards and a letter deposited therein.

They were removed and put in a mail box a few feet away and the traffic signal resumed operation unaided.

A Tough Break

Le Mars, Ia. — Fay Wells, a high school senior, had tried several times to get a date with the "prettiest girl in town."

Finally she agreed to accompany him to the high school "prom" dance.

Whereupon Fay broke his ankle while swimming.

HURLEY

Hurley, May 20.—On Friday evening, May 23, at 8 o'clock, D.S.T., an "Evening of Magic and Variety Show" will be presented at the school under the auspices of the P.T.A. Tickets may be purchased from the school children who are having a part in the program, or at the door. Refreshments will be for sale.

The girls' junior choir of the church, who sang in their new choir robes for the first time on Mother's Day, again sang last Sunday in commemoration of 4-H Club Sunday.

A meeting of the teachers and officers of the Sunday school will be held after prayer meeting Thursday evening. Plans will be made for Children's Day.

Mrs. Coons of Chatham, N. J., is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Clarence Lockwood.

The Ladies' Missionary Society will meet Wednesday afternoon 2:30 at the DeWitt home. Mrs. Ennist of Bloomington will be the leader. The North Marlborough society will be guests at the meeting.

The Sunday school rally will be held Friday evening, May 23, at Stone Ridge.

Cities between 10,000 and 25,000 numbered 665 in the 1940 Census against 606 ten years earlier. The 1940 combined population of these places was 9,966,898 compared with 9,997,200 ten years earlier.

Need Today Is to Personalize Defense

Ithaca, N. Y., May 21.—To defend democracy, every citizen must feel that he is personally taking part in its defense.

He must be aware of the challenge that faces the nation and himself. He must realize what lies ahead for himself if democracy is not defended successfully. The choice must be made clear.

So says Prof. R. A. Polson of Cornell, in pointing out that citizens whose daily routine identifies them with the defense program probably realize what it means.

"I have noted the difference between the centers of defense activity and the other communities to the extent that topics of the hour are discussed. Many persons seem to feel remote from the defense program because they do not see it in action. It does not touch their personal lives, except as they listen to it second-hand through the radio or read about it in the newspapers, or as it will touch them through higher taxes.

"Time and time again I hear, 'What does it all mean?' If we are to have a united nation, there must be an answer to that question."

What can rural organization do for defense? Dr. Polson says they can get people talking about it; talk about what they wish to defend, how they can do it, what kind of peace they want, and many other public issues. The defense program, he adds, requires an understanding and agreement on government action not expected in peace time.

The Cornell sociologist recommends discussion and forum programs that would reach into every village and hamlet. "Not only do we need more town halls, we need more forums in the village hall and grange hall."

Most of today's education for democracy, he says is conducted as part of the program of some established organization, such as the rural church, or the grange bureau. An effort is being made to encourage these organizations to help train the lay ministers that he leave the siege-battered island.

Germans Swarm Down Upon Crete

The British reported that German naval units tried to land troops at the western end of the island and in the Candia region. It was not disclosed whether the attempts were successful.

140 Are Landed Safely

Amid the dramatic struggle for Crete, the Germans notified United States authorities in Vichy that 140 American survivors of the Egyptian steamer Zamzam, sunk by a Nazi sea raider, have been landed safely in St. Jean De Luz, France.

The group included 62 men, 53 women and 25 children.

Dispatches from Berlin said a German spokesman predicted the Americans would be released as soon as possible so they could return home via neutral ports.

An official announcement said all 322 passengers and crew aboard the Zamzam had been saved.

In the Middle East war theatre, British and American citizens were reported streaming out of French-ruled Syria.

Reports from Jerusalem said Nazi planes had arrived at the Syrian airports of Damascus and Palmyra and that British and "Free French" warplanes again attacked both fields.

In neighboring Iraq, a Baghdad communique declared that heavy losses were inflicted on the British by Iraq troops in attacks on the British air base at Habbaniyah, 60 miles west of Baghdad. "The battle is continuing," the communique said.

By contrast, the British reported yesterday that they had marched eastward from Habbaniyah, crossed the Euphrates river and captured the village of Fallujah, 40 miles from Baghdad.

In Washington it was reported authoritatively that the United States virtually has called upon Vichy for a forthright declaration of France's intentions in collaborating with Germany. It was said the French government has been given to understand there could be no restoration of French-American relations to harmony until Vichy formal assurances that France would hold firmly to the terms of her armistice in dealing with the Reich.

U. S. Asks Vichy To Declare Stand

formed state department sources it was learned that Secretary Hull told the ambassador:

"That the United States considers pro-fitter elements are now in control at Vichy and that all nations are satisfied that Vichy, under German compulsion, has gone beyond the armistice terms.

That if such an impression is wrong, Vichy should correct it in some satisfactory way.

That no satisfactory relations can exist between France and peaceful nations so long as this general impression of coalescing French and German relations continues to exist.

That adherence to the armistice terms is not only fair to Germany, but is in the best interests of France and the peaceful nations of the world.

Henry-Hay informed Secretary Hull that German planes had utilized Syrian airfields under clauses in the armistice agreements with the Axis which placed all French airfields "in control" of the Germans and Italians.

Officials here, disagreeing with this interpretation, asserted that placing the airfields "in control" of the Axis meant they could no longer be utilized by the French for military purposes, but did not grant the Germans and Italians the right to use the fields to make war on another nation.

Officers Are Elected

The Men's Club of the Wurts Street Baptist Church held its regular monthly meeting at the church hall Tuesday evening. Officers were elected for the ensuing year. arranged to confer with the southern operators and union representatives in Washington Friday. A feature of the northern agreement was a proviso that each miner should get a 12-day annual vacation with pay of $20 for the period.

C. I. O. employees of the Carbondrum Company at Niagara Falls, N. Y., voted to walk out next Monday, with the Union's stated aims including arbitration of a worker's dismissal and immediate action toward a "genuine collective bargaining agreement."

The firm, which employs 3,200 persons, makes abrasives which are used in many industrial processes.

Another New York state labor dispute was settled last night, however, when C. I. O. welders at the Dunker plant of the American Locomotive Company agreed to resume work. Although it was declared that a "satisfactory" agreement on the union's wage and union ship demands had been reached, details were not announced. The plant has a $5,000,000 order for army gun carriages.

A strike of 2,600 molders and foundrymen employed in 38 plants in the Chicago area was settled last night when the companies granted a wage increase of 11 1/2 cents an hour in various wage brackets, bringing molders to a minimum of $1.16 1/4 an hour and the lowest paid foundrymen to 68 1/2 cents. The strike, called by an A. F. L. union, began May 12.

Also settled was a strike at the Diamond Alkali Company plant at Fairport Harbor, Ohio. One of the principal points agreed upon was elimination of the Alkali Employees Federation, which the C. I. O. Gas, Coke and Chemical Workers charged was a company union.

A jurisdictional dispute between two A. F. L. groups came to a head last night at New Bedford, Mass., when the executive committee of the New Bedford Textile Council announced it was considering calling a general strike of 20,000 millworkers. The other party to the dispute was the Central Labor Union, a local federation which includes a number of textile units.

Red Cross in U. S. Has Anniversary

First Group Met 60 Years Ago in Washington

The 60th anniversary of the American Red Cross is being observed today, for it was on a spring evening just 60 years ago that a small group of men and women met at the home of Clara Barton in Washington and formed the American Association of the Red Cross.

In the three-score years since 1881 many things have come to pass. Disasters have taken their toll, wars wrought destruction, famine and epidemic come and gone. And in all these catastrophes the American Red Cross has played its part—clothing, feeding, sheltering the homeless and ministering to those who were ill.

In 1905 the fast-growing society was re-organized under a new Congressional charter to enable its leaders and membership to carry forward more effectively its humanitarian tasks. The years of the first World War proved the worth of the organization, and today the American Red Cross is again meeting the challenge of disasters brought by war—and through the co-operation of the American people is meeting that challenge of bringing food, clothing, medical services and other aid to sufferers of the war-torn countries.

Bookstore Is Closed

Buenos Aires, May 21 (AP)—Police closed a German bookstore today after a disturbance followed upon its display of a picture of the Argentine hero, General Jose De San Martin, flanked by pictures of Hitler and Mussolini. Angry passers-by smashed the window yesterday and police ordered the proprietor to withdraw either the picture of the general or those of the Axis leaders. When he refused, the place was taken over by police.

Financial and Commercial

Steel Was Among The Active Stock List on Tuesday

Stocks opened firm Tuesday and moved ahead throughout the day, with closing prices at the best level for the session, while volume of 471,050 shares was more than double Monday's scanty market.

There was a general opinion that the market was in an oversold condition so that the news from Washington that price control authorities were considering some upward revision in "frozen" steel prices brought an immediate response. There was buying of steel stocks and two, U. S. Steel and Republic, were among the most active stocks, gaining 1 1/4 and 1 1/2 respectively. All of the 15 most active showed gains Tuesday.

Standard of N. J., leading with a gain of 1 1/4 in turnover of 15,300 shares.

In the Dow-Jones averages the industrials made a decided advance and closed at 117.65, a net gain of a point and a half for the day. Rails were up .43, to close at 28.25, despite the unusual demands of labor for a 30 per cent wage increase. The utility average just managed to show a gain, up .01, to 17.31.

Commodities were irregular but inclined to be easier, with the futures index off a slight fraction. Cotton and coffee advanced but wheat closed lower after an early rise. Cotton closed seven to ten points higher in comparatively light trading. Wheat after a rise of one cent a bushel closed 1/4 to 1/2 cent lower. Spot raw sugar declined on reported purchase of 18,000 of Cubas, due June 5, at duty-paid equivalent of 3.35 cents a pound. Domestic futures contracts closed three points higher in active delivery months. There was a wide break in rubber futures and the market closed as much as 65 points lower. Spot hide prices again advanced 1/2 cent. Government buying continued to influence skyrocketing hog prices and Tuesday best hogs went to a top of $9.40 a hundred, highest in nearly three years.

Following a conference between O. P. M. and New York Cocoa Exchange officials measures designed to curb speculative activity in cocoa will be laid before directors of the exchange. A big rise in margin requirements seems likely. At present a margin of $300 is required on a 30,000 pound cocoa contract.

With a record-breaking demand for white paper several mills have advanced spot prices. Advances average about $10 a ton. The industry is running at 100 per cent of capacity as many mills are operating seven days a week.

Preliminary reports show that carloadings last week were around 864,000 cars, which would be best since 1930.

Cvek Spits at Judge

New York, May 21 (AP)—George Joseph Cvek spat at the judge today as he was formally sentenced to die in the electric chair for the strangulation slaying of Mrs. Catherine Pappas in her Bronx apartment February 4. The sentence, imposed by Judge James M. Barrett, was mandatory on the 24-year-old Harrisburg, Pa., hitchhiker's conviction for first degree murder. The youth also has been accused of robbing or raping more than a dozen other women in eastern cities.

Dissolution Granted

Thelma Gertrude Smith of Highland has been granted a dissolution of her marriage to Charles Clayton Smith whom she married at Lynchburg, Va., on October 2, 1929. Michael R. Nardone appears for the plaintiff. The dissolution is granted by Justice Harry E. Schirck on the grounds that Smith has absented himself from his home for a period of over five years and is presumed to be dead. The action was tried in Kingston at special term on May 2.

Committee to Act

Washington, May 21 (AP)—Members said today the Senate naval committee probably would act finally next week on legislation providing fines and jail sentences for persons who take forbidden pictures of American naval equipment or of foreign war vessels being repaired in the United States. The committee agreed yesterday to delay action temporarily after Senator Johnson (R., Calif.) had contended the bill would allow the secretary of the navy to issue regulations which would amount to "penal statutes." It also would permit prosecution of "absolutely innocent persons," Johnson said.

Fuel Oil Is Being Substituted for Coal in Cuba

Washington, May 21 (AP)—The stock market moved ahead today behind a vanguard of oils which established a new high for the year.

Advances of around a point were registered for many leaders toward the final hour. Transactions were at a rate approximating 550,000 shares.

Action in the petroleum shares was based on prospects for increased earnings resulting from higher crude and gasoline prices and from improved demand because of the defense program. Also foreseen was the prospect of eastern seaboard shortages of gasoline for civilian use.

Shares reaching 1941 peaks included Consolidated Oil, Ohio Oil, Standard Oil of Ohio, Mid-Continent Petroleum, and Western Union. Among other gainers were Allis Chalmers, Chrysler, Douglas, United Aircraft, American Telephone, Phelps Dodge, Reynolds Metal, American Can, Philip Morris and duPont.

Bonds and commodities also moved ahead.

Among the gainers in the curb were Pittsburgh Plate Glass, Le Tourneau, Pennsylvania Central Airlines, Sunray Oil and International Petroleum.

URGENT! To You Who Suffer Periodic FEMALE PAIN

WHICH MAKES YOU CRANKY, NERVOUS

Hundreds of thousands of women who suffer from functional monthly disturbances—headache, backache, cramps, nervousness, pain of "irregularities," dark circles under eyes, a bloated feeling, so weak, "dragged out"—have obtained wonderful relief from such symptoms by taking Lydia Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Pinkham's Compound is made especially for women. Taken regularly throughout the month—it not only relieves such distress but aids in building up resistance against these symptoms. Famous for over 60 years. Worth trying!

Officers Elected By Cooperative Concert

The adoption of a constitution and by-laws, and the election of a new board of directors were the principal items of business at a meeting held by the Cooperative Concert Association of Kingston at the Governor Clinton Hotel Tuesday afternoon.

The tremendous popularity of these concerts has made necessary a division of labor, and it was for this purpose that a general invitation was issued to members of the association, through the press, to attend the meeting. These annual meetings are in accord with the policy followed in other cities served by the co-operative concerts and offer the membership an opportunity to share in the work of the organization. All ticket-holders are members.

The directors elected are: For a term of one year—Mrs. C. J. Raymond, Ellenville; Mrs. Clara Norton Reed, Kingston; Vernon S. Miller, Kingston.

For a term of two years—Mrs. Carl Eric Lindin, Woodstock; N. LeVan Haver, Kingston; Leonard H. Stine, Kingston.

For a term of three years—Mrs. George Pratt, Highland; Mrs. Arthur Wicks, Kingston; J. G. M. Hilton, Saugerties. Subsequent elections are for terms of three years and insure an active board of directors.

The executive committee includes Dr. Frederick Holcomb, president; Hon. Conrad Heiselman, first vice president; Mrs. Allan Hanstein, second vice president; Mrs. Eloise P. Lovatt, secretary; Mrs. Joseph Craig, treasurer.

Mrs. Allan Hanstein, it was announced, will continue as general chairman. Assisting her as co-chairmen will be Mrs. George Pratt and Mrs. Arthur Wicks.

J. G. M. Hilton will take care of all lighting effects and Leonard Stine will again have charge of the high school boys who act as ushers. Mrs. A. B. Shufeldt has been appointed chairman of the campaign dinner which will take place in the fall.

Nutrition Meeting

A nutrition meeting will be held May 28 at 7:30 p. m. in the Church Hall, Ascension. Church, West Park. Miss Evie Parsons of the Home Bureau will give a demonstration on the preparation of low cost foods. Instruction will be given on how to buy and attractively serve these foods. The Ulster County Home Bureau is cooperating with the Town of Esopus Public Health Nursing Committee in sponsoring this meeting. The public is invited to attend.

Play at Port Ewen

"Feet-Watcher" at Dance Should Practice at Home

Diagram Shows Change Step

Watching her partner's feet, as if that would help at this point! Even the simple Westchester Change Step needs a little home practice—how a man hates a partner who does her "learning" on the dance floor.

So you girls who yearn to be popular at dances, practice beforehand. Clever footprint diagrams show you just where to put your feet.

See how simply the diagram in our sketch shows the Change Step?

Counting a slow fox-trot one-and-two, (1) step forward quickly on your left foot, (AND) quickly bring your right foot forward even with left, rising to balls of both feet, (2) step back slowly on left.

You easily follow your partner's lead into this and other smart variations if you keep supple and responsive, step a second after he does.

Our 32-page booklet shows, with clear diagrams and instructions, how to do all the smart steps, including Westchester, Peabody, tango, rumba, Lindy, Conga, Sam-ba, waltz, fox-trot and shag.

Send 10c in coin for your copy of HOW TO DO THE NEWEST DANCE STEPS AND VARIATIONS to Kingston Daily Freeman, Home Service, 635 Sixth avenue, New York, N. Y. Be sure to write plainly your NAME, ADDRESS, and the NAME of book-let.

A Slenderizing Shirtwaister

Marian Martin

PATTERN 9586

Shirtwaisters win first place in every smart woman's wardrobe. Pattern 9586 by Marian Martin is a softly tailored shirtwaister style that's young and casual, yet especially proportioned for the fuller figure (it comes in sizes up to fifty)! There's spirited novelty in those deep front yokes that are cut in one piece with the center bodice panels—a treatment that leaves the side-front bodice sections soft and becoming. The nice vertical lines of the bodice are followed through by a front skirt panel. The back skirt is smartly paneled too. You'll like the shape of the long, curved collar, whether you have it in self-fabric or contrast. And, speaking of contrast, why not try the front panels, yokes and collar all in a lighter color?

Pattern 9586 may be ordered only in women's sizes 36, 38, 40, 42, 44, 46, 48 and 50. Size 36 requires 4 1/4 yards 35 inch fabric.

Send FIFTEEN CENTS in coins for this MARIAN MARTIN pattern. Be sure to write plainly your SIZE, NAME, ADDRESS, and STYLE NUMBER.

Summertime means high time to order the Marian Martin Pattern Book! It's one of the most complete, well-balanced collection of dressmaking designs available, with real inspiration from cover to cover. Cottons for at-home and vacationing... lettuce-crisp prints... smart sports, travel and dress-up wear... cool outfits for everyone. And each style is easy to order in a simple-to-use pattern. Send NOW! Book is just FIFTEEN CENTS. PATTERN FIFTEEN CENTS. BOOK AND PATTERN TOGETHER, TWENTY-FIVE CENTS.

Good Taste Today

By Emily Post

(Author of "Etiquette," "The Personal and Social House," "The Blue Book of Social Usage," etc.)

No Rule, Only Personal Preference, as to What Page to Use Next When Writing Note or Letter.

By EMILY POST (Author of "Etiquette," "Children Are People," etc.)

In answer to the letter asking me, "What is the best sequence to follow for turning the pages when writing a letter on a four-sided sheet of letter paper?" there is no fixed rule. If a note is longer than the first side, the fourth is preferred as page two, with writing going the same way as across page one. But if the paper is thin and the envelope not lined, one then writes on the third side since this leaves the fourth side blank and prevents the writing from showing through the envelope. If the letter runs more than two sides, then the second side is used for this, with the paper turned so that the lines of writing run the long way. And then, if after all one writes a fourth side, one continues writing with paper turned sideways.

Old-fashioned people usually continue like the pages of a book and this is entirely proper. Personally I always write on the first side then I go to side four, and then across three and two as though the right side of three were on top of a page of typewriting paper. But I have no reason for this except that I like writing on the front and back of the little packet of paper better than opening it until I have to. There is really no more "reason" than that.

Service Sometimes From Right

Dear Mrs. Post: From which side are plates removed from the table? My understanding has always been that they were put down at the left but removed from the right, but by strong-minded maid contends that they should be put down and removed from the same side.

Answer: Your maid is right. She must prefer a serving dish at the left, of course, and she puts the plates down and takes them away at the left, if possible. But should the table be very crowded so that, let us say, at the ends it would be easier to place and remove plates from the right, then it is considered quite proper to do what is practical.

The Wedding Cake

Dear Mrs. Post: Where on the wedding reception table is the wedding cake placed—both on a buffet table and on a sit-down table? I have seen pictures of a sit-down table with the cake in the center and I wondered how the bride could cut it without leaving her place or having the cake brought to her.

Answer: No matter what type of table it is, the wedding cake should be placed so the bride can easily reach it. At a sit-down table she would of course have to stand up to cut it, but it should be within reach of her place. For example, if the table is fairly long and the cake is to be stood in front of the center, the bride and the groom would then sit on one side, she at his right and directly in front of the cake. On a buffet table it is placed in the center of a narrow refectory table, or the center of side of a wide one.

Charles A. Gilmore died at his home on Clermont street, Saugerties, Monday morning. He is survived by his wife, one son, Charles Gilmore, Jr., who is stationed at Hawaii, U. S. A.; four brothers, John, William, James and Thomas Gilmore of Jersey City, N. J.; and three daughters and several grandchildren. Mr. Gilmore had been an employee of the Saugerties Gas Light Co. for the past 25 years. His death followed an illness of several weeks. The funeral will be held in St. Mary's Church, Saugerties, Friday morning at 9 o'clock. Burial will be in Mount View Cemetery.

Mrs. Caroline E. Gallagher, wife of the late Peter K. Gallagher, who died a month ago, died early this morning following a long illness. She was born in this city, the daughter of the late John and Marie Lang Dittus, and was held in high esteem by a very large circle of friends, as she was a devoted wife and mother and was always willing to help anyone in sickness or trouble. Deceased leaves two devoted daughters, Catherine M. and Marion G. Gallagher, of this city; one son, John D. Gallagher of New York City; two sisters, Mrs. Mary O'Reilly of Long Island City and Mrs. Mary Rundle of this city. The funeral will be held from the Jensen & Deegan Funeral Home, 15 Downs street, Friday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Burial will be in the family plot in Montrose Cemetery.

Modena, May 21—Funeral services for the late Mrs. Henrietta Courter, 67, wife of Weygant S. Courter, Sr., were held Sunday afternoon in the Sutton Funeral home in Chester, with the Rev. Frank P. Venable, pastor of the Modena Methodist Church assisted in conducting services. Bearers were members of the town board, Harry Sutton, Floyd Harcourt, William Carr, Louis Rhodes, Charles Demsky and Leander Minard. Burial was in the New Hurley Cemetery. Mrs. Courter was born in Chester, had lived in Wallkill for many years and in Modena for about 15 years. She was a member of the Modena Women's Society of Christian Service and the Modena Home Bureau unit, in which she was an active leader. Besides her husband she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. William Ostrander of Northport, Conn., and Mrs. Louis Hyatt of Modena; one son, Weygant S. Courter, Jr., and one grandson, Harold Hyatt.

Wayne N. Wiseman of New Paltz died at the Benedictine Hospital this morning. He was born in Pawlet, Vt., the son of John Newton Wiseman and Mary Monroe Wiseman. The deceased had lived in New Paltz 25 years where he owned and operated the Ox Bow Inn. For 14 summers he was the chef at the Ulster-Green Boy Scout Camp. And for the past four years chef at the Tri-Delta Kappa Fraternity House in New Paltz. He was a member of the Methodist Church of New Paltz and an honorary member of the Chapter of Tri-Delta Fraternity. Mr. Wiseman is survived by his wife, Faith Hall Wiseman, two daughters, Mary Catherine Wiseman, a graduate of the Benedictine Hospital and Mrs. Woodhull Donaldson of West Point; two sons, Marvin H. Wiseman of Indianapolis, Ind., and Donald W. Wiseman, at home; also two grandchildren, a brother John W. Wiseman and a sister Minnie B. Wiseman, both of West Brighton, Staten Island; also several nieces and nephews. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock and at the New Paltz Methodist Church at 2 o'clock. The Rev. Elmer Bostick will officiate. Burial will be in the New Paltz Rural cemetery.

To Hold Hearing

A public hearing will be held Friday evening at 7:30 o'clock by the railroad and bus committee of the Common Council on the petition of the DuBois bus line, operating between Creek Locks and Kingston, to amend the bus route in the city to eliminate the present stop at the downtown bus station. The petition was filed with the council at its last meeting and referred to the railroad and bus committee of which Alderman Fred Renn is chairman.

Card of Thanks

We desire to express our most sincere and heartfelt thanks to our many relatives and friends who so kindly assisted us during the bereavement of our dear mother. We also wish to thank the priests and sisters of St. Joseph's Church, also the Rev. Father Leddy of Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus, also Mr. and Mrs. Jos. McAuliffe for their courteous attention to all.

MRS. JOHN GILL AND BROTHERS, THOMAS AND JOSEPH HEANEY.

Butler Testifies To His Drinking, Denies Driving

time of the crash he said he did not. He said he could not have driven the car because he did not recall the trip from Fisher's at all and had no recollection of being in the car or who was in the car. It was not until Monday afternoon that he learned that Gadd had died.

Butler said he had been chief clerk at the Universal plant and had permission to use the truck for business but when he wanted to use it for personal reasons he asked Mr. Shufeldt or Mr. Vandenberg. He denied that employees were allowed to take cars over the weekend with permission and said once before last October he had taken the truck without permission. That was in July of 1940.

Demoted, Pay Cut

After the accident Butler said he had been demoted and his salary cut and he was paying $5 a week for the damage to the truck and his pay was also cut in addition.

On cross examination Butler said he had made a statement on May 16 that he was never permitted to use the truck when he asked for it. He said he knew he had not driven the truck when the accident happened, if he had he would recall something of the trip.

Butler said he did not recall asking one of the men who pulled him from the wreck, how Gadd died, or of asking how Gadd was during Sunday at the hospital. He said he never knew Gadd was in the car.

Asked whether he had made a statement when he learned that Gadd had died that it was "too bad it could not have been me instead of Gadd," Butler said he did not recall having made such a statement.

Butler said after the accident his license to drive was revoked and he has been unable to drive. The morning session opened with Mr. Vandenberg still on the stand. He said he learned that Butler had taken the truck on October 12, following the accident. He said Butler was never refused permission to use the truck for some personal business during business hours unless the truck was needed in the business. He said Butler was reprimanded and demoted after the accident but so far as he knew no formal charge had ever been made against Butler.

Asked whether he had told Deputy Brown at the sheriff's office on October 13 that Butler had permission to use the truck, the witness said he never had said that. He denied that he had told Brown in the presence of Deputy Vredenburg that Butler had permission to use the truck on October 12. Mr. Vandenberg said he never was asked that question by the sheriff's men.

Tells of Being Awakened

Clifford Longendyke, the first man to reach the scene after the crash, testified that he was awakened by the crash and went to the scene from his home on Taylor street. The car was on its right side and Butler was in the car. Gadd was on the pavement some 14 or 15 feet back of the car which was badly damaged. The rear end of the truck and one wheel was some 70 feet down the road in the middle of the road. Both doors were closed at the time on the cab and Butler was seated against the right door. Someone pulled him out and he was taken from the scene in a car.

Dr. Ellersbrook testified a blood test showed Butler had 22 of one per cent of alcohol in the blood from a sample taken at 6:30 o'clock some two hours after the accident. He said this indicated definite intoxication and a lack of ability to remember.

Dr. F. A. Johnston told of Butler being in a "muddled" condition late Sunday afternoon when he was called in consultation. He said Butler suffered from concussion and alcoholism. His condition was due to alcoholism rather than the concussion because Butler came out of the concussion or shock quickly next day. Both defendants rested their case before the noon recess taken at 1 o'clock and Deputy Sheriff Arthur Brown was called in to testify by Mr. Haver for the plaintiff. Mr. Brown said Vandenberg had told him in the office on Sunday, October 13, that Butler had permission to use the truck and that some of the employees were allowed to keep the trucks over the weekend. It had been previously testified to that Vandenberg had told the deputy that the little gas and oil which was used by the employees in this manner did not amount to more than $200 a year.

Two more rebuttal witnesses will probably be called at the afternoon session and the case will then be ready for the summations and charge by Justice Murray.

Fisher Testifies

Testimony by Johnny Fisher, proprietor of Fisher's Tavern at West Hurley, placed Raymond Gadd at the wheel of the Universal Road-Machinery Company truck on the early morning of October 13, 1940, as it left the tavern for Kingston. Edward J. Butler, Universal Road Co. employee who had brought the truck to West Hurley earlier in the preceding day, was asleep on the front seat of the car when it left the tavern for Kingston. His condition was described as "boisterous" at the tavern but Fisher denied that Butler was intoxicated. Fisher was called as a defense witness in the $100,000 action brought by Mrs. Raymond Gadd against Butler, as driver of the truck and the Universal Road-Machinery Company, as owner of the vehicle in which her husband was riding about 4 a. m. on October 13, 1940 when the truck collided with the abutment of the Higginsville bridge and Gadd was fatally injured.

Called as the first witness for the defense, Fisher said Butler had arrived at his place during the afternoon and had paid several visits there during the afternoon and evening of October 12. He came to the place in the truck about 10 o'clock in the evening and remained until the place closed at 3 a. m.

During the latter part of his visit there Butler became "boisterous" and left the tavern and went to his truck where he fell asleep. Fisher said the keys had been removed from the truck and Butler could not start the car, although he tried to do so. When the tavern closed the customers left the place with the exception of Raymond Gadd who remained and talked for a time. Gadd did not return home with the party in which he arrived.

Later Gadd and Fisher went out and moved Butler, still sleeping from the seat of the truck and placed him in a sitting position on the right of the seat and Gadd got behind the wheel and started off toward Kingston. This was about 3:30 o'clock and nearly 45 minutes before the accident happened.

Fisher said he would not call Butler intoxicated.

Cross examined Fisher said he had told State Trooper Arthur Reilly the day following the accident that he did not know who drove the car when he made that statement to the Trooper he did not consider that fact as "important."

No Right to Use Truck

Alexander B. Shufeldt, president of the Universal company said Butler had been in the employ of the company for some 25 years and was still employed there. He said it was a company rule that employees were not to use trucks for personal business and that Butler had no right to use the truck on the day of the accident. He said the taking amounted to stealing the truck.

Eugene Vandenberg, superintendent, said Butler had been given permission to use company trucks for personal business on prior occasions but said that Butler had no right to use the truck on October 12, 1940, for his business and he had not been given permission to use the truck.

The plaintiff, represented by N. Le Van Haver, alleges that Butler drove the truck at the time of the crash while the defense claims Gadd had taken over and was driving. Judge A. J. Cook appears for the Universal Road-Machinery Co. of this city and Chris J. Flanagan for Mr. Butler.

News of Interest to Fraternal Organizations

The Grand Court, Order of Amaranth, Inc., State of New York, is holding its 44th annual session at Convention Hall, Saranac Lake, this week, May 19 to 22. Many members and the royal matron, H. L. Alvinette Gerlach, of Mystic Court No. 62, are attending the convention.

An initiation for a class of candidates will be exemplified Thursday evening by Kingston Lodge No. 550, B. P. O. Elks. The ritualistic work will be performed by the newly elected officers of Kingston lodge under the leadership of Exalted Ruler Vincent G. Connolly. Some of the initiates are Robert Murphy, Henri Rethier, Eugene Glusker and Albert Flick. Refreshments prepared by Chef Weiskopf will conclude the evening.

Heat Wave Hits East

Chicago, May 21 (AP)—An early season heat wave brought scorching temperatures to most of the eastern half of the nation for the second successive day today. A week of cold front was lagging off Illinois and the warm area was not expected to receive relief much this week-end when a fresher cool air mass from Canada will drive the unseasonal warmth into the Atlantic. Temperatures rose well into the 90's generally through the warm area yesterday and Forecaster Gordon E. Dunn said the early morning readings indicated they would duplicate the climb today.

Maroon Golfers Win

Last week-end at the Wiltwyck Golf Club the Kingston High School golfers defeated Liberty by 12-0. Van Aken and Bunney shot low scores for the winners. Bill Van Aken posted a 39-37 for a total of 76 while Bunney hit 40-41 for 81. Bunney is a new member of the squad who is expected to be a great help to the local golfers. Boice and Allen both won their matches. It was Kingston's second straight shutout victory.

Reaches New High

Washington, May 21 (AP)—The number of civilian employees of the federal government reached a new all-time high of 1,202,348 at the end of March, the census bureau announced today. The previous high of 1,184,521 was recorded last December.

Preparedness and Peace Needed Now, Says Legion Head

Referring to the "strong armed man that keepeth his palace and goods in peace," Edward Vossler of Brooklyn, department commander of the American Legion of the state of New York, told a group of over 200 members of the Ulster County American Legion and their county auxiliary that peace with preparedness, for which the Legion has been fighting for the past 20 years, is more vital to this country than ever.

Commander Vossler and Mrs. Albert Innecken, department vice-president of the Ladies' Auxiliary, were guests of honor at a dinner given at the Mitchell House, Ellenville, Tuesday night, by the County Legion and the Auxiliary.

Other guests included Bernard Snyder, department vice-commander; Gerret Rozeboom of Castleton, third district commander; Ida Ashby, department secretary and treasurer of the auxiliary; Mrs. John Doran, third district chairman; Mrs. Raymond Woodard, county chairman; Mrs. Ernest Jansen, county treasurer.

County Commander Louis Vandemark of New Paltz was the master of ceremonies and presented the guests and speakers.

Mrs. Kutzbach of Woodstock presided at the piano as all joined in singing the national anthem at the opening and later gave several fine zither numbers. Albert Messinger, young Kingston baritone, gave some pleasing vocal selections.

Commander Vossler spoke of Hitler's declaration to the effect that there is no place for democracy in the world of today and said that the Legion and Auxiliary were more convinced than ever that democracy is the hope of the world. He said that the Legion would do all in its power to see that democracy, represented by freedom of speech, freedom of the press and religious liberty were not destroyed or curtailed.

No More A. E. F.

Telling his audience that as a result of the World War America left 126,000 of its boys dead in France and that there are today about 400,000 disabled American veterans, suffering from mental and physical ailments, some of them having been in hospitals for 20 years, Commander Vossler said that "The American Legion does not want to see another A. E. F."

The speaker warned against the "fifth columnist," saying that it was boring from within that made the historic Great Wall of China ineffectual against her enemies and that weakened France so that the impregnable Maginot Line could not save her.

He emphasized the need for full preparedness and referred to the old sun dial in Kent, England, that bears the inscription, "Traveler, It's Later Than You Think."

The department commander stated that he had visited every army camp in New York state and was greatly impressed with the spirit of the men and the training being given them. He told his hearers to disregard the stories of poor food, dissatisfaction and the like.

Mayor C. J. Heiselman, former commander of Kingston Post, American Legion, was the first speaker to be introduced and gave a patriotic address, in which he stressed national defense. He spoke also of the beauties and opportunities of Ulster county and especially the city of Kingston.

Mrs. Innecken spoke of the work being done by the auxiliary in hospitals, homes of disabled veterans and caring for the families of needy veterans. Mrs. Innecken was presented with an oil painting in recognition of the work she has done. The presentation, on behalf of the members of the county auxiliary, was made by Mrs. Raymond Woodard, county chairman of the auxiliary.

The literary program was in charge of Worthy Lecturer Sister Le Fever. The topic was "Health." Dr. Hollis R. Ingraham gave a talk on several diseases. Dr. Ingraham brought a picture machine but unfortunately was unable to use it.

Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held Wednesday evening, May 21 at 8 p. m.

Two Youths Held For Two Hearings On Theft Counts

Raymond Stephano, 18, of 37 Lucas avenue, and James Miller, 18, of 108 North Front street, charged with petit larceny, were arraigned before Judge Matthew V. Cahill in police court this morning. The court sentenced them to six days in the county jail, which they have already served, and turned them over to the sheriff's office.

It was stated that the sheriff's office held warrants against both youths on charges of burglary in the third degree alleged to have been committed in the town of Hurley, where the youths will be taken later for arraignment before a justice.

The petit larceny charge here was that of stealing empty bottles, on which deposits were paid, from a store on Washington avenue and disposing of them at another store where they obtained the money deposited.

Alfred DuFon of Lafayette avenue, charged with failing to observe a full stop sign furnished bail for his appearance later in court.

Charles McGuire of Newark, N. J., and Thomas J. Terrell of Hudson, both charged with public intoxication, were sentenced to 30 days each in jail, but the serving of the sentence was suspended provided they were out of town within an hour.

Two Stage Fight Near Picket Line

Both Are Held by Police for Court Hearing

Jacob Blinder of Meadow street, employed in one of the dress factories in the Sevicenter building, and Murl Auchmoud of Kyserville, a member of the picketing line in front of the dress factories, were arrested by the police at noon today on charges of disorderly conduct.

Both are charged with staging a fist fight on the parking grounds adjoining the municipal auditorium. They were held under $25 bail each for appearance in police court on Thursday morning.

Walks Way to Health

Los Angeles, May 21 (AP)—Mrs. George Adams, 68, walked 20 miles into Los Angeles and told curious questioners: "If you're sick, get up and walk your way to health." That's what Mrs. Adams has done in the last 15 years. "I was practically bedridden for several years. I just felt dead and restless, so I began taking walks—long ones, too. I kept on a diet of fresh fruit and vegetables, and a little meat once in a while. Now I feel marvelous. I walk at least 10 miles every day." Mr. Adams, 74, didn't accompany his wife. He had walked 25 miles the day before.

Indians, Dodgers Lose Again; Track Meet Here Saturday

Tribe Drops Third Straight Game to Athletics, 6 to 5

Cubs Blast Brooklyn by 9-1; Higbe Is Routed; Reds Edge Out Braves by 9 to 6 Count

(By The Associated Press)

Percentages control everything in baseball. You see them in the standings of the club, in the batting and fielding averages and in other statistics. You don't see them but they are present when a left-handed pitcher is sent in against a right-handed pitcher, or a batter is walked to set up a double play, or the infield comes in close to play for a sacrifice, or the outfield moves around in position for a dead-leftfielder. "Percentage" is the reason behind every move in the game—even to the batters who never strike at a 3-0 pitch.

This "law of averages" also is the key to the present tailspin of the Cleveland Indians and Brooklyn Dodgers.

Before the Indians lost their three straight to the seventh place Philadelphia Athletics they had won 23 games and lost nine for a .714 percentage. Before the Dodgers dropped four in a row at Pittsburgh and Chicago they had won 22 and lost six for a sensational .786.

Phils Bump Cardinals

These simply were steels too fast for either club to maintain, just as the same reasoning applies to the St. Louis Cardinals, who were breezing along at a .714 clip till they were bumped yesterday by the last-place Phillies.

In the past 40 years in the major leagues only seven championships have been won with percentages above .700.

In the course of bringing the Dodgers down to earth, the Cubs made 33 hits and 30 runs in three contests. They bagged yesterday's finale, 9-1, bunting six hits for three runs in the fourth against Kirby Higbe and nicking Newt Kimball in the eighth for six runs, three of them on Lou Stringer's triple with the bases loaded.

The Cardinals, cut down, 6-4, in 11 innings by the Phils remained a half-game behind the Dodgers in win-loss figuring although holding onto the official percentage lead. Johnny Mize provided the Redbirds with a four-run margin with two doubles and a triple in the first five innings, but after that "Boom Boom" Beck and Ike Pearson pitched shutout relief while their mates pecked away until they won.

Frank McCormick smacked a three-run homer with two out in the ninth to give the Cincinnati Reds a 9-6 victory over the Boston Braves after Ernie Koy of the Reds had hit a round-tripper with one on in the eighth.

Arky Vaughan settled a see-saw game between the New York Giants and Pittsburgh in favor of the Pirates, 7-5, with a two-run homer in the seventh.

Ferrick Shines Again

The Athletics ambushed Mel Harder, undefeated previously with four victories, and whipped the Indians, 6-5. Rookie Tom Ferrick, third relief pitcher for Philadelphia, worked two innings in which he did not let a man reach first. There were eight double plays.

The second-place Chicago White Sox polished off a sweep of their three-game series at Washington with Lefty Thornton. Lee holding the Senators to six hits for a 5-2 victory.

Young Earl Johnson, southpaw star of the Boston Red Sox, held the Detroit Tigers to four hits and shut them out for eight innings to win, 4-2. The feat spoiled the 20th birthday anniversary plans of the Tigers' Hal Newhouser, who allowed only five sacrifices himself.

The St. Louis Browns handed the Yankees a 10-9 decision on a platter garnished with no less than six errors. Harold Clift hit two home runs and Roy Cullenbine one but Brownie misplays undermined Elden Auker before Bill Dickey hit a three-run homer in the eighth. Relief pitcher George Case threw badly to first to let in the winning run with two out in the ninth.

Baseball Congress Needs Umpires for 48 State Tourneys

Course for Officials Will Be Held; President Ray Dumont Says Entries Are Pouring In

Wichita, Kan. (Special)—It's not players that are scarce—but umpires.

President Ray Dumont of the National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress announced today that team entries were already pouring in from sandlot clubs for the 48 state tourneys in July, qualifying champions in the seventh annual national championship event here August 15-27.

At the same time Dumont reports a shortage of competent umpires, not only to officiate in district and state tournaments, but also in the National Association of Leagues.

For that reason the national organization has decided on a 12-month correspondence course for all applications they accept in the National Association of Umpires so the fans won't be calling "Robbers" or "Blind Toms."

In addition to the umpires' group, the congress now sponsors a national association of scorers so players won't swear so much after looking over their box scores.

Umpires or scorers desiring to be a member of one of the National Associations or teams planning to participate in the series of 48 state tournaments should contact National Semi-Pro Baseball Congress, Wichita, Kan., Dumont reports.

Complete details of the fast growing semi-pro organization are featured in the 1941 National Semi-Pro Baseball Guides, available at news-stands and sporting goods stores.

Outstanding sensation of the spring batting statistics of the National League is Billy Jurges, Giants' shortstop. Bir question mark in Giantland during training season was whether Bill would do any ball-playing at all this year and if so, whether his head-injury of 1940 would make him play-shy. So what happens? After 10 seasons in the National League in which his batting average was .298 in 1937, Jurges was hitting at a .375 clip when Terry's New Yorkers embarked on their first western trip. He had played in every game, and was tie for the league lead in hitting 2-baggers, as well as second only to Erno Slaughter in the batting averages. Maybe that wallop on the think crock last June turned back Bill's clouting clock to 1932, when he hit .364 in the world series, even though his club, the Chicago Cubs, finished second to the Yankees in the series itself.

Maroon Drops 2nd Straight Game to Po'keepsie, 16 to 5

Locals Rout Don Hempe but Fails to Win Game at Bridge City Field; Use Three Hurlers

Cliff Miller's Kingston High School squad scored a moral victory yesterday afternoon at municipal stadium and then dropped another to Poughkeepsie High by the score of 16 to 5, the worst rout the locals have suffered this season.

That moral triumph was the lambasting of Don Hempe, southpaw flinger who tossed a no-hitter against the Millermen last Monday. Hempe was routed in the eighth but his teammates went on to lather the Maroon and White hopefuls without mercy.

In an attempt to thwart Poughkeepsie's juggernaut, Miller sent ace Bill Windburn to the mound but he had to give way to Lou Albright who in turn was followed to the hill by Ronnie Bilyou. The three permitted 10 hits. Kingston collected nine off Hempe and Kuhn.

Poughkeepsie really hit the register in two big frames, the fourth and fifth. In the fourth, while Windburn was hurling, the Kalloshmen pounded out three hits, helped with two walks to push over the six markers. Windburn managed to fan the side but the six runs were across.

Bill Tierney appeared at short for the locals yesterday and came up with two hits. However, he committed two errors which didn't help the cause of the locals any.

Kingston hit the scoring ledger in the fourth when Hank Stoll lined out a single and romped in on Billy Gavis' rousing triple. Gavis tallied another run by stealing home. In the fifth Tierney singled, Brinkman walked and again Stoll came through with a double to score both base runners.

Catholic Softball League

Friday evening at Hasbrouck Park St. Peter's softball team will play St. Colman's of East Kingston in a scheduled Catholic softball game starting at 6:15 o'clock.

With Joe Amato hurling two-hit ball St. Mary's softball team defeated St. Colman's in the Catholic League last night by the score of 2 to 0. St. Mary's team pushed over single markers in the second and third to win the contest.

Opposing Amato on the hill was Nerone for the East Kingstons, who was nipped for eight hits but also pitched a nice game. Lennihan and Dougherty collected doubles for the winners. Henebery and Manfro were the catchers.

Last night at Block Park the Baptists opened the scoring with two markers in the fourth on successive singles by Ray Houghtaling, Art Rice, Al Hunt and Doug Harvey. An error also helped out in the scoring.

St. James rocked back in the last of the fifth when with one on Cy Crosswell poled a homer which was misjudged by Post in the outfield. Then in the top half of the seventh Cecil Haines who collected three hits including a triple, slashed a single to register Hunt with the deciding run.

Franck Still Showing Heels To Big Ten Athletic Rivals

By TED PETERSON
AP Feature Service

Minneapolis—George Franck's flying heels are still bobbing up in aggravating fashion before the eyes of Western Conference athletes.

Last fall the Big Ten boys and a few others, devised a relatively simple method of offsetting the speed of Franck, Minnesota's all-America halfback, on the football field, but it doesn't work in track.

To break up Franck's habit of lugging the pigskin for touchdowns from about any point on the field, opponents didn't give him much of a chance of getting the ball in the clear. Instead they figured they'd save themselves a lot of trouble by booting punts and kickoffs out of bounds.

Of course there were a few teams which thought they could handle Franck—and on those occasions Minnesota averaged 40 yards return on kickoffs, most of this attributed to Franck. On two occasions he ran 97 and 80 yards for touchdowns.

The powerful leg action that carried Franck to All-America football honors is the same that is enabling him to show up opponents on the track. He is the Western Conference indoor 60-yard dash champion, having won that event in :06.3 seconds last winter.

Franck won the indoor title when he nosed out Myron Piker of Northwestern in resumption of a notable rivalry between the two speedsters. Until this winter Franck had been finishing behind Piker for two straight seasons. Now Franck has ambitions of annexing the Western Conference 100- and 220-yard titles when that meet is held at the University of Minnesota May 16 and 17.

In addition to running the sprints, Franck is anchor man on the Minnesota mile relay team which won the conference title in 1940. In the 1940 meet Franck finished third in both the 100 and 220-yard sprints. His best competition upon graduation.

Conn Is Shooting For Big Purse in Match With Knox

Manager Johnny Ray Says Fighter Is Flat Broke and Needs the Cash; Looks for $25,000

Played With Atlanta Team of S. A. Circuit During '40; Has Impressed Local Officials

Pittsburgh, May 21 (AP)—Billy Conn, shooting for the moon when he meets Joe Louis in June for the heavyweight title, may bag the biggest purse of his career next Monday night in a home town tuneup fight against Buddy Knox, a relatively unknown plodder from Dayton, Ohio.

"And boy, do we need that sugar," moans Johnny Ray, Billy's manager. "We ain't got a dime." The cost of living up to the light heavyweight title, along with family expenses—Billy provides the best medical care for his mother—has drained the Conn exchequer.

Billy's biggest purse to date was something over $20,000 he received in another home town stand—in his successful defense of his lightweight title against Mello Bettina.

Other Conn purses included $15,000 for his fight with Bob Pastor, $14,000 in the Lee Savator fight, $10,000 for the Gunnar Barlund date and $12,000 for his return match with Fred Apostoli.

"We'll top $25,000 for our end against Knox," Ray asserted. "The day tickets are going we may even hit $30,000."

Federation Softball

At the armory No. 1 diamond last night the First Baptist softball team continued on its unbeaten path by scoring a 3 to 2 win over St. James. The Saints were undefeated before last night's setback.

Al Hunt took the hill again for the Baptists and proceeded to hurl superb ball, giving only three hits. Osterhoudt pitched seven-hit ball for the losers.

After three scoreless frames the Baptists opened the scoring with two markers in the fourth on successive singles by Ray Houghtaling, Art Rice, Al Hunt and Doug Harvey. An error also helped out in the scoring.

St. James rocked back in the last of the fifth when with one on Cy Crosswell poled a homer which was misjudged by Post in the outfield. Then in the top half of the seventh Cecil Haines who collected three hits including a triple, slashed a single to register Hunt with the deciding run.

Ulster Auxiliary Entertains State Officers

Freeman Photo

The Ulster County unit of the Ladies' Auxiliary, American Legion, was host yesterday afternoon to several of the state officers prior to the annual State Commanders' and Presidents' dinner, which was held in Ellenville last evening. Here are seated Mrs. Edwin Ashby, left, state secretary and treasurer; and Mrs. Albert T. Innesch, state vice-president. Standing are Mrs. John Doran, of Albany, third district chairman; Mrs. Raymond Woodard, Ulster county chairman; Mrs. Hermon I. DuBois, publicity chairman of Kingston Unit 159; and Mrs. Sam N. Mann, president of the local auxiliary.

Camp Happyland Applications Are Now Being Made

Several applications have come to the Christmas Seals office for children for Camp Happyland it was announced today.

Camp Happyland, operated by the Ulster County Committee on Tuberculosis and Public Health and maintained entirely by Christmas Seals money provides eight weeks of care and training for children who need this change because of contact with tuberculosis, lack of appetite, undernourishment or who may be recuperating from an infection, contagious diseases, pneumonia or other serious illness.

Each community is allotted a quota. If this quota is not filled it may be taken by the overflow from other places. Applications which include a report of physical examination by a physician, immunization against diphtheria and vaccination against smallpox must be in the committee office before June 10.

Interested people as well as doctors, nurses and social workers may refer children who are in need of this special care and training to the Committee Office, 74 John street.

Ascension Service

The annual Ascension Day service of Trinity Evangelical Lutheran Church, Spring and Hone streets, will be held Thursday evening, May 22, at 7:30 o'clock. The Feast of the Ascension is one of the holy days of the church calendar. There will be special music by the junior and senior choirs under the direction of Roger Baer. The pastor, the Rev. Frank Lawrence Gollnick, will preach on the theme, "The Ascension of Our Lord." The regular junior and senior choir rehearsals will be held after the service. An important meeting of the general committee of the birthday banquet under the direction of Oscar La-watsh, chairman, will also be held after the service. This congregational birthday banquet is to be held in the church assembly hall Wednesday evening, June 4, at 6:30 p. m.

Crossing Is Discussed

A discussion of the proposed elimination of the Broadway crossing of the West Shore railroad took up the major part of the meeting of the Central Business Men's Association on Monday evening at the Y. M. C. A. It was decided that no official action be taken until the plans for the elimination were received in Kingston. At a recent meeting of the state public service commission the railroad was given 30 days in which to prepare plans for the elimination by depressing Broadway under the railroad tracks.

Latest census bureau figures show that the 1,252,029 bicycles made in 1939 were double the number reported in 1935 when 656,828 were manufactured.

Acts as Judge

MISS SAMMIE HILL

Cecil Clovelly, director of The Student Theatre, the Maverick, Woodstock, will announce soon the local winner of The Student Theatre scholarship. Each year The Student Theatre offers two scholarships, one for young actors and actresses from the country surrounding Woodstock, and one as the result of auditions held in Mr. Clovelly's studio in New York. The final audition at the Maverick was held Sunday, and the name of the winner will be made public as soon as the selection is concluded. Miss Sammie Hill, scholarship winner last year, and now leading lady on the radio program, "Home of the Brave," is one of the judges.

Two Jobs Exams Slated in June By Civil Service

The Municipal Civil Service Commission met Monday evening at the city hall and decided to hold two civil service examinations on June 26 at the Kingston High School; one for building mechanic and the other for fire captain in the paid fire department.

The position of building mechanic in the city's school system is held by Frank Elmendorf, who retires in December.

The examination for fire captain will be a promotion examination confined to members of the paid fire department who have served two years as paid firemen.
